Is This Thing On? Information Literacy for the Digital Age

The upcoming FITT class, Is This Thing On?, is one of our longest-running and most popular technology classes. While turning on a computer and using a mouse may seem like second nature to some, it isn't for everyone. With so many basic activities now required to take place on a computer, the library sees many people who need a little help feeling comfortable using a computer. Don't stress—we all did at some point!

Is This Thing On? teaches the basics of computers, beginning with turning it on. Mouse skills, basic keyboarding, and more are presented in an easy-to-understand format that will have you feeling empowered to tackle that online application or to email family members in no time!

After you take this class, there are also our one-on-one Tech Help sessions. Reserve a 30 minute session to receive assistance in whatever area you need.

Is This Thing On? and Tech Help are both supported by The Bishop Foundation and support Information Literacy skills, one of the five literacies of PA Forward.
