Community-Based BIBLIOTHERAPY

Title held over another month!

May 16 at 5:30pm

We will discuss

Where The Heart Is by Billie Letts

Bibliotherapy uses books as a way to promote positive change and healing. Community-Based Bibliotherapy can involve using books and community supports to form an innovative support group and strengthen interpersonal relationships, resiliency, and hope.

Each month we will read a book and discuss how we can apply aspects of the book to our lives; looking at the characters' decisions, obstacles, and healing journey within the book. We will work together as a group to support one another and share experiences as well as our reactions to reading and embark on our own journeys together to learn, grow, heal, and embrace life as it comes.

This program is free. Attendance does not constitute a therapeutic relationship.

Sarah Falkson is a Licensed Professional Counselor, a Clinical Trauma Specialist, and a member of the National Board of Certified Counselors. She has worked in the field for over 15 years and has a strong passion for working with and advocating for individuals who have experienced trauma.

JOURNAL PROMPTS

Looking to get more out of your reading? Try journaling!

Think of a book you read recently that resonated with you (good or bad) and answer the following prompts :

- What qualities do you admire most about the main character?
- The main character is running for president and puts you in charge as the campaign manager. What winning slogan do you give them?
- If you were trapped on a deserted island and could only have one character from your book be along with you, who would you pick and why? Would you try to escape the island or find a way to make it your new home?

Join Lebanon County Early Intervention Tuesdays in May from 10-10:30am to learn more about ways to promote your child's development at home. A pediatric therapist will be available to answer questions and provide ideas on how to increase your child's skills in different developmental areas.
